

Soon, we stopped or maybe because we spotted a speedboat, I and James headed the direction for the waves.

After 45 min., we went out of the boat and walked on the Seventeen-Arch Bridge. We bought some bird flute as we blew it along the way. It was like a trombone, It will make birds love you!

As soon, we're on the bridge. A kind old man let me fly a kite, James too! It was a strange looking kite. It has ~~4~~ wheels, I think it was a new technology.

After that, we found that the road was a dead end, we walked back to the other side. There were insects on the bridge.

There were insects on the bridge, small insects flying around. One landed in Mum's nose and ^{she} screamed, "Help!" I decided to hid my head under my T-shirt. We saw the kind old man again.

We walked along. We found a tree ^{with} falling flowers. So we tried to catch it. However, I just caught three petals.

Soon, we found a nice road to the other side of a pond. We took far-away photos, then we went out of the garden.

It's getting late, so we went to eat dinner. Mr. Zheng invited us again for dinner! We went to a dumpling restaurant. I make fun of it, called dump-alings. We ate many kinds of dump-alings. I don't know which was my favorite, because we ate too much and drank coca-cola!

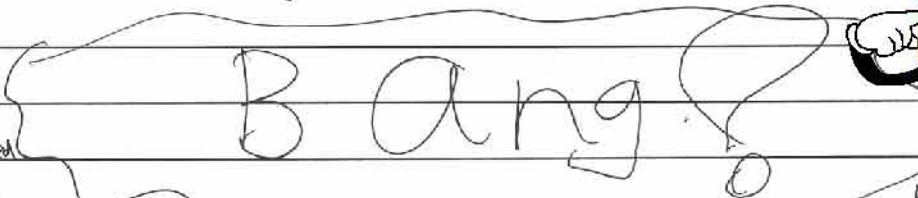

I was super full! So we went back to our hotel and sleep. Before sleep, I watched air-crash investigation. It's about a plane restored the wrong gas meter and being forced to ditch the plane. It was horrible, but I like it.

The next day was great! We're going to the soldier's place. Christie, a new friend just came from Mongolia, to join us.

In the soldier's place, we saw real guns. Their sounds were really loud. Like this:

I   my ears because it's too loud. Then, I went to the toilet because I had a tummy-ache. After that, I noticed there wasn't any ~~toilet paper~~ ! I screamed. It was a pity. (You should cover your ears?)

Soon, baba came because he didn't see me for a long time. He then found me. I screamed so hard that I lost my voice! Finally, Baba gave me some tissue paper. The pain was getting worse!

After a while, I felt better, so we took photos. Then we had lunch, I couldn't eat anything, just plain soya-sauce noodles. Soon the doctor came. He gave me some medicine and checked my throat.

"Wow," he said "Your throat is very red!"

"Hah" I whispered (But that, I wanted to scream! But I can't!)

After lunch, we went to..... The GREAT WALL! First we saw the Great Wall, then it vanished. Then ^{it} appeared again. It was amazing.

While we're still looking at the view, Uncle Johnny & Christie dad) told us to leave the vehicle.

Then, we walked up some stairs and saw a souvenir shop. There was a magic ball that expands and contracts. But I decided not to buy. Then we did our invented war umbrella dance, Chun Kin's dance was special. His umbrella was U-turned. We all laughed.

Soon we were on the Great Wall. We went to the other side where ^{there} was fewer people. We saw battlements and went inside and came out of the other side. How interesting!

Then, we ran and ran while taking photos. It was fun!

After all, we found the road we were walking was a dead end. So we went to the other way. We walked and walked. Soon, we found a roller-slides-down coaster.

But it was closed already.

Yet, we still have a lot of fun, hours of fun by taking photos.

Soon, it's time to go home. So we went down the stairs while playing rock, paper scissors.

We played and played, then my Ba Ba said we're late so we stop playing.

At that moment, I was the highest one, so I lost. I was a little disappointed, but I knew it was only just a fun fun game.

Downstairs, I took a deep breath.

"Ouch!" I said. That feeling always happens when you go to a high place which make your lungs a little painful.

- As we walked back to the car, we played

"Step the ants." Soon, we're in the car, we played many games until we saw Mr. Zheng waving at us, because he invited us again! For dinner.

I drank lots of watermelon juice. It was tasty. Then we headed straight back to our hotel, room 1122, brushed teeth then we went to sleep. (I just can't think how fun it is!)

The next day, we woke up, brushed teeth then went to eat breakfast buffet. I drank soybean milk because I still had the tummy ache. But why???

Today, we went to the train station to take a train to Tianjin.

At Tianjin, we went on a bridge. We took many photos, we climbed bars. It was fun. I like Uncle Johnny's walkie talkie. Then we slid on a slippery stuff, took more pictures near a tank. After that we went into a cute big restaurant,

The restaurant was BIG! Our room was on the highest floor.

Christie, Justin and James went up the first.

Then I, Jason the soldiers and Ba Ba went up the next.

Lastly, the parents went up.

In the room, on the table, there was one big glass, one medium glass and a small glass. I preferred the giant one with strawberry juice. The medium one was strawberry and watermelon juice, and watermelon juice was in the smallest glass.

Before the feast, some ladies with Chinese
